CASE STUDY: Havaianas

Sitation's AI Powered Content Creation tool,
RoughDraftPro Solves Product Content
Creation Challenges At Scale

About Havaianas International

Havaianas is a globally renowned footwear brand with a prominent presence in over 100 countries. Selling more than 250 million pairs of sandals annually, the brand is celebrated for its top-notch flip flops and diverse range of clothing and accessories. Offering colorful and lovely designs, the company proudly manufactures its products in its home country of Brazil.

Havaianas recognizes localized product content needs to support US market growth goals.

Havaianas, in pursuing its corporate goals for large growth in the US market, recognized the need for specially-created and localized product content at scale.

The digital team soon realized that generating top-notch and precise product content at an enterprise scale was beyond their existing resource capacity.

Leveraging Sitation's AI content tool, RoughDraftPro, and a direct PIM integration for automation, Havaianas was able to generate product content for its US product assortment on Amazon in a matter of days.

Conclusion

RoughDraftPro and content creation is one of the many facets of a successful, ongoing Havaianas and Sitation Partnership.

RoughDraftPro facilitates content creation and refresh for crucial sales channels at scale, while maintaining the authentic brand identity of Havaianas across thousands of globally offered shoes and apparel.

Silvain explains, "if we weren't using RoughDraftPro and working with Sitation, we would still be in a place of creating one product description at a time without the staff to do it."
